

Establishing shot. Desert.
„The Desert B_“

A man is walking towards the camera.

Close shot to the legs walking through the sand.

Clos shut of the walk and the bag the man is carrying.

Clouds pan by slowly.

Close up shot of the head and we see it is Major Grubert wearing his helmet and walking through the Desert B_ .

Clouds pan slowly by.

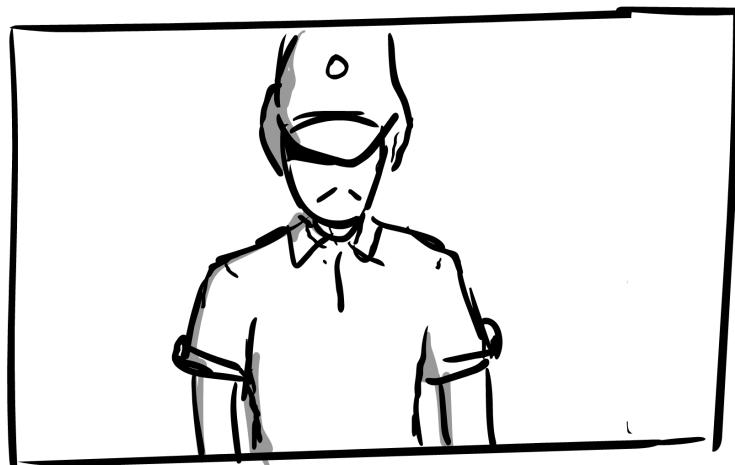

Still shot od the desert.

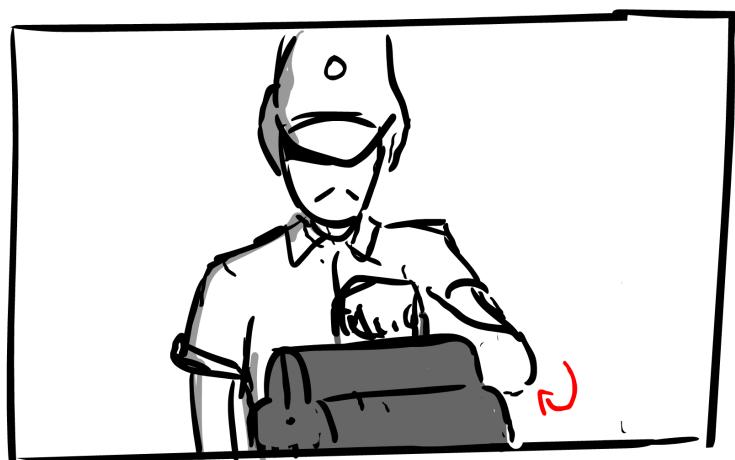

Major Grubert walks into the picture.

He stops in the middle of the picture.

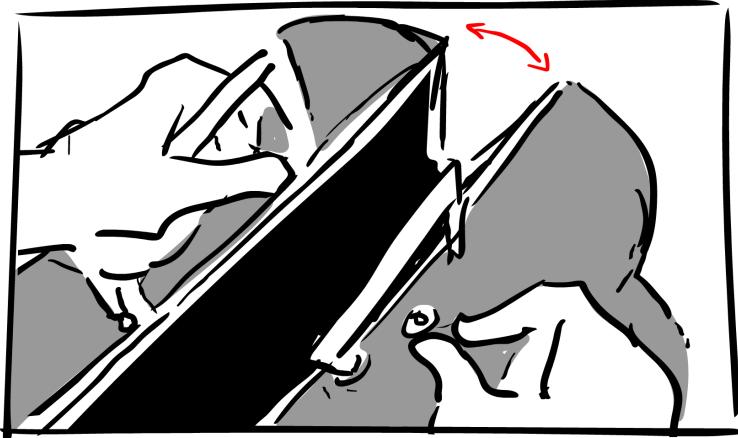

Frontal shot of Major Grubert against a blue sky.

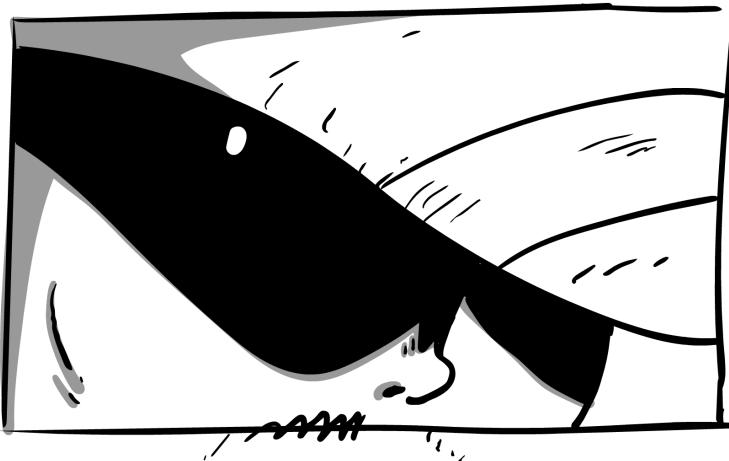

He holds up the bag.

Close up shot of the bag which he wants to open.

He opens the bag.

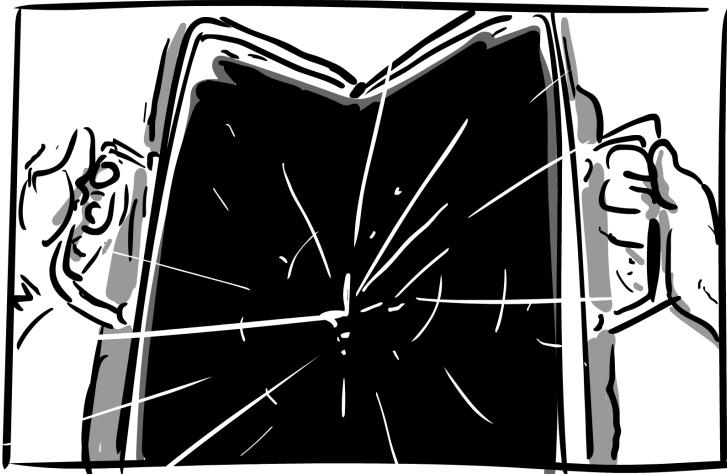

A close up shot of Majors Gruberts face.

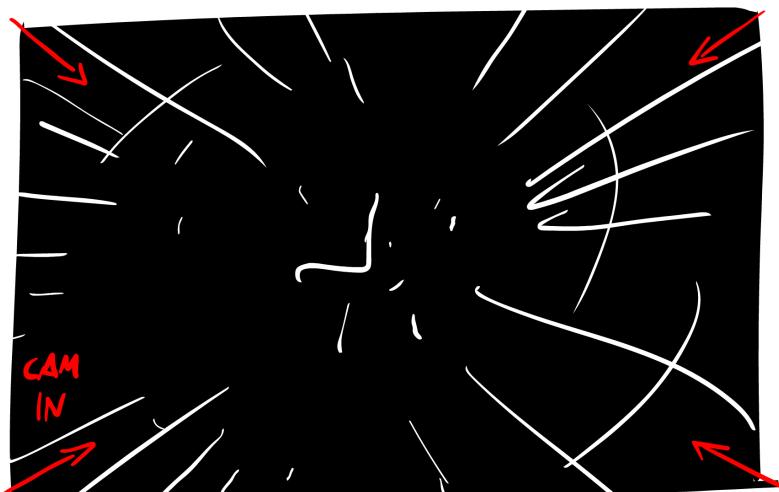

The helmet is casting a shadow over his face and you only see a tiny spot for his eye looking into the bag.

We are looking into a dark and seemingly empty bag ...

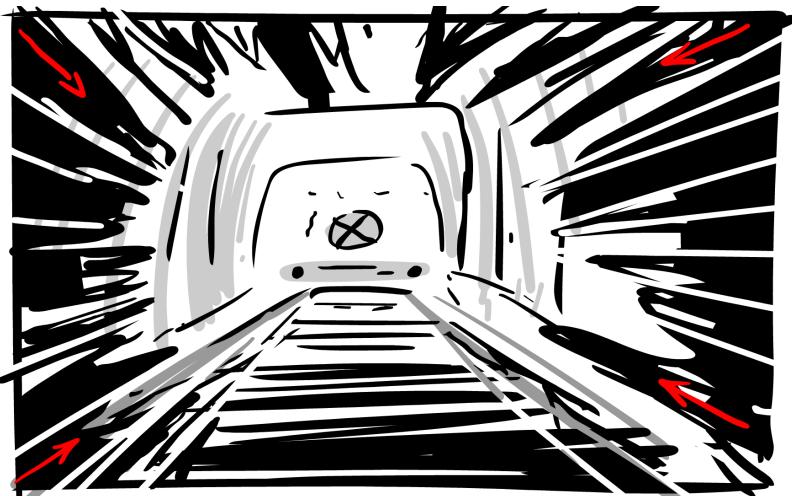

... but then lights n sparks fly out of the bag.

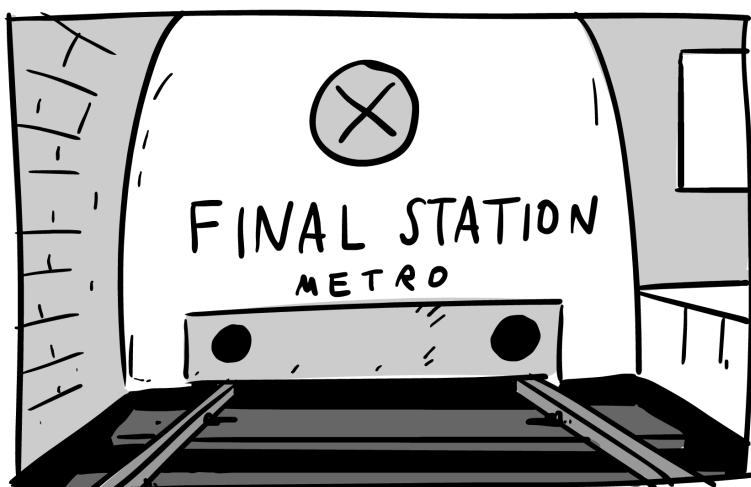

The camera zooms into ther bag and more lights and sparks pass by.

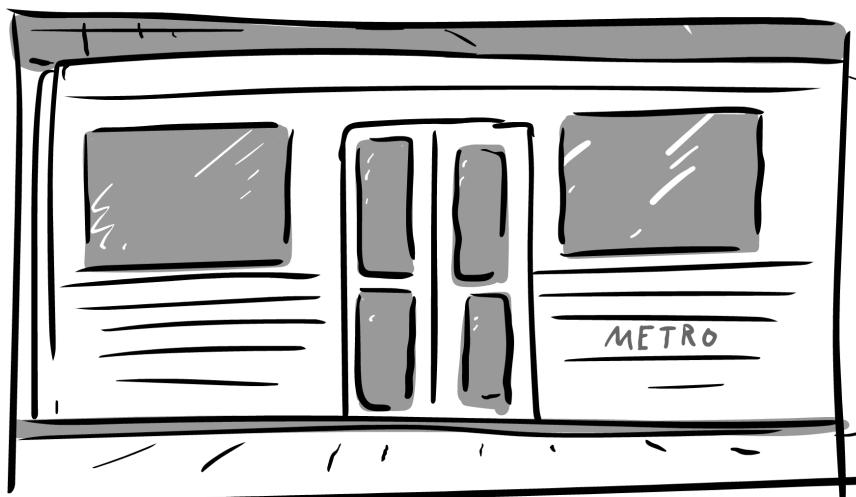

Then we fly through the art of Moebius ... Cover of books, comic pages and illustrations.

We seem to be getting closer to the end of the bag and it seem we are heading train rails.

We come to a full stop in front the final station of a metro line.

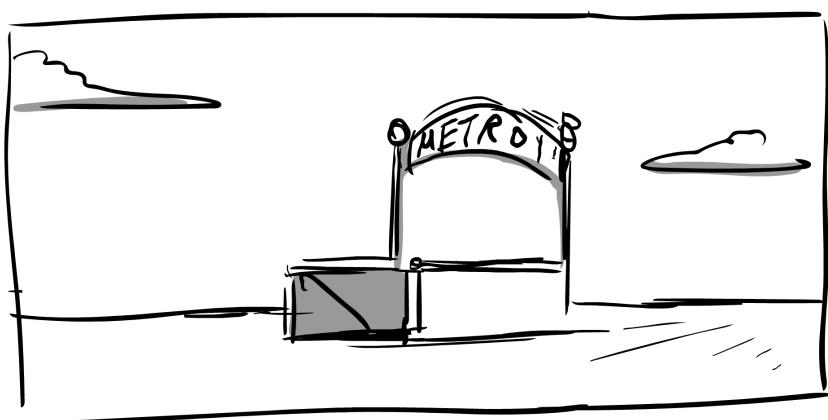

We see the sideview of the metro train standing in the station.

The doors of the Metro train open up with a hissing sound and we see Moebius standing inside.

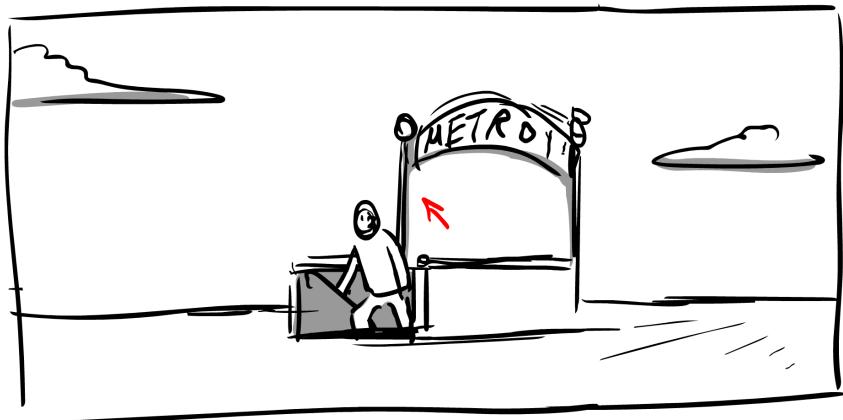

Close up shot of Moebius who is looking around where he is?

Outside shot of a desert in which an entrance to the Metro stand.

Moebius climbs slowly out of the Metro entrance.

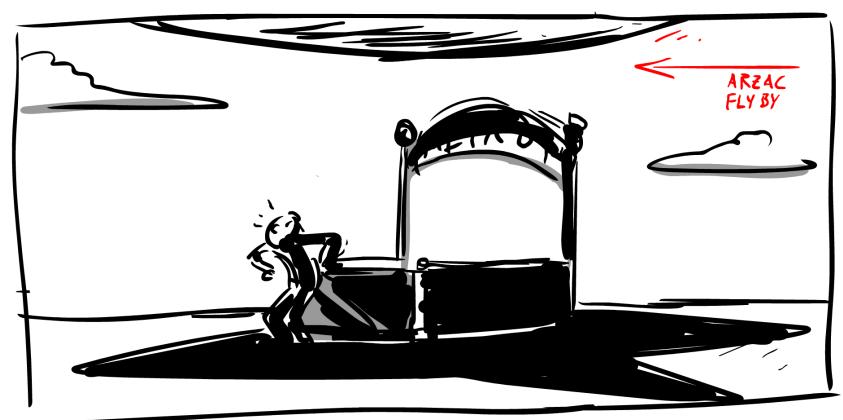

He looks around ...

... and get surprised by something that suddenly flies over his head.

(It is Arzac on his bird)

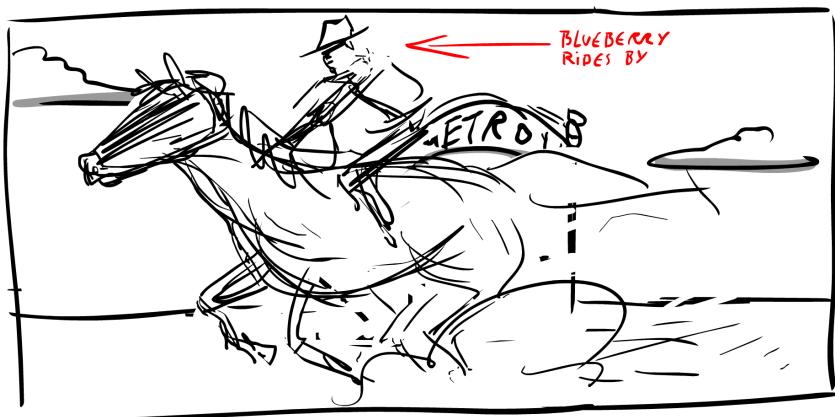

Moebius looks after it wondetring ...

... but gets surprised again when a man on a horse rides passt him.
Whirling Moebius in a dust cloud.

(The ride is Blueberry)

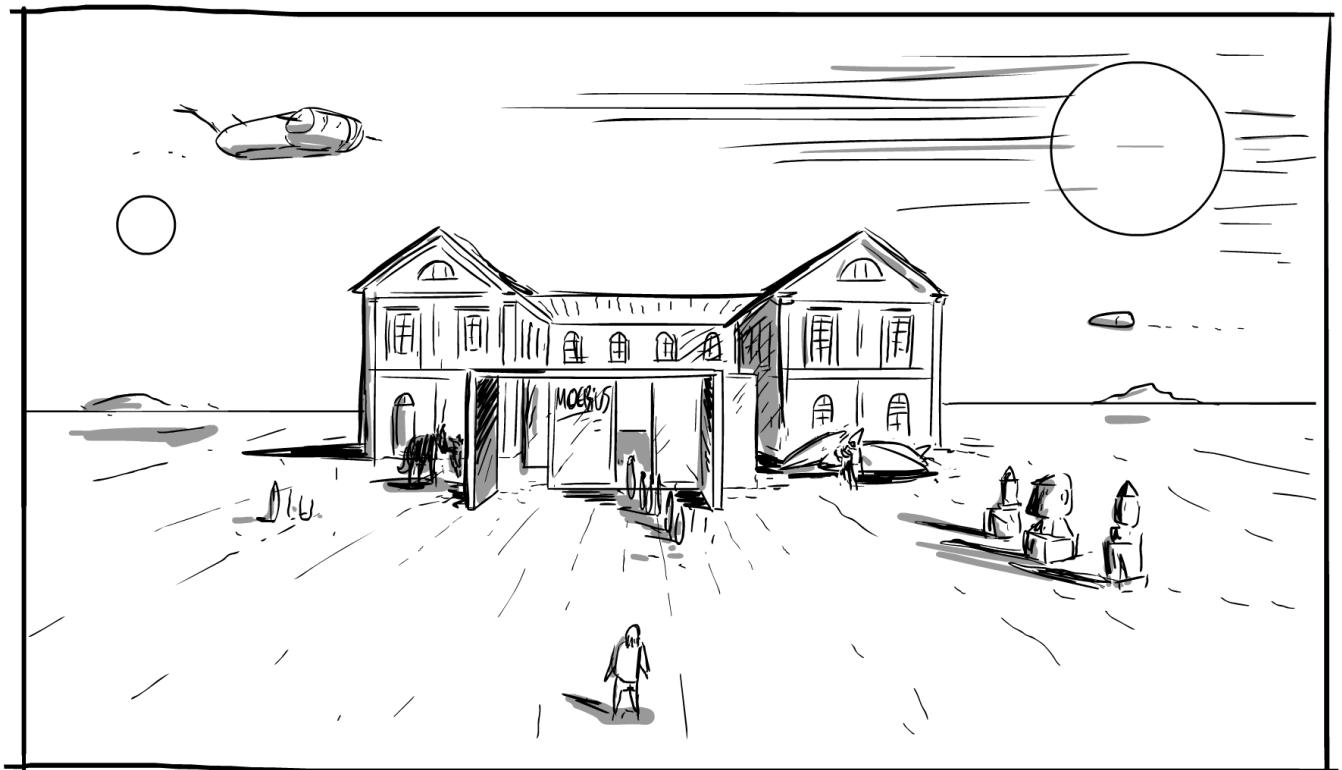

The dust slowly clears...

... and we see Moebius looking into the distance.

Point of view shot.

We see the Max Ernst Museum in the middle of the Desert B_

Arzac has landet and Blueberry is securing his horse to go in.

There is a line of people already waiting to get in and in the background we see spaceships cruising the sky and coming closer to land at the Museum.